How I Plan To Use It:

At the top of the chart I made space for the types of notes posts I plan to create this month using the list below.

These types of Notes ideas are from David McIlroy's workshop:

If I started from zero on Substack

Posts that build depth -

Types of Notes to batch create:

- specific numbers
- a contrarian take
- honest confession
- direct question
- the mini-lesson
- uncomfortable admission
- photo and story from my day
- screenshot of a good reply or comment

Rotate through all types of Notes regularly.

Batch your writing, not your posting.

Schedule out posts so your Substack does the work for you.

Think: specific person, outcome, challenges (picture your reader)

Have good posting and engagement habits.

Genuinely connect with others and like, restack, and subscribe.

Pay attention to what posts are doing well in your space.
